It can be overwhelming to be constantly asked, “What will you do after graduation?” or “What are your career plans?” This webpage is the perfect place to explore your options. Whether you know what career you want but don’t know how to get it, or if you have no idea, we recommend you check out the resources and information below.

Where to Start

What's Next

1

Meet Your Career Specialist

The Huntsman School of Business provides you with a professional coach who specializes in career development. Each major has an assigned specialist to guide you through your exploration of careers. Set an appointment to learn about the many industries you could pursue!

Huntsman Clubs & Centers

You can immediately get involved with Huntsman School of Business (HSB) clubs and centers. Getting involved in clubs and centers is a great way to investigate career paths and industries, connect with other students, explore career-related opportunities, and gain leadership experience. Learn more about HSB clubs below, and check out these fantastic centers: Center for Growth & Opportunity, Covey Leadership Center, Entrepreneurship Center, and Huntsman Scholars.

Focused Friday Events & Media Library

The Huntsman School of Business (HSB) provides a unique opportunity to dedicate Friday to weekly student professional development discussions called Focused Friday. HSB also has hundreds of videos from previous career-related events hosted over the years. As you research and investigate potential careers and industries, check out our upcoming and past events of successful professionals, alums, and students who share their experiences and advice.

Huntsman Career Expo

Every fall semester, The Huntsman School of Business hosts approximately 50 companies and firms in Huntsman Hall to meet and interact with students. Regardless of where you are in your academic journey, we encourage you to research companies and meet recruiters and alums to learn about potential internships and job opportunities.

Global Learning Experiences

Similar to joining a club to research careers, we also recommend getting out of the country for some perspective. By joining one of our Global Learning Experiences, you will cultivate a global mindset and see how different industries operate internationally. We especially recommend this for anyone pursuing a career that extends beyond borders.

Career Exploration Trips

Students can explore industries and connect with professionals who hire Aggies through off-campus trips. If you're a member of Huntsman Scholars, these experiences are part of the curriculum. Clubs also have the opportunity to coordinate visits to companies of interest. Lastly, the Department of Economics and Finance hosts an annual trip to New York City.
