"If you look at the strategic pillars of the Huntsman School, global vision is a standard. We really have to understand what is happening outside of Cache Valley, Utah, and the United States," noted Dr. Chris Skousen, associate department head of the Accounting Program. This year Dr. Skousen of was elected President of the International Accounting Section of the American Accounting Association (AAA).
“It’s important we have visibility. Through this opportunity with the AAA we will continue to build, grow, and develop international opportunities for our students, alumni, faculty, and friends,” says Dr. Skousen.
